DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 33-35,37 and 39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Mantegazza.

Mantegazza discloses a voucher comprising: a substrate (2); a visible mark (3) placed on the substrate, wherein the visible mark has a first appearance on the substrate, but wherein a photocopy of the visible mark has a second appearance, different from the first appearance; and indicia printed on the substrate, wherein the indicia indicate a value for which the printed substrate can be redeemed in exchange for at least one of cash and merchandise.

Claims 40,42 and 44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sandru.

Sandru discloses all of the subject matter set forth in the claims. See column 1, lines 61-67 and column 2, lines 1-6.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 36 and 38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mantegazza in view of Puckett.

. Puckett et al. teaches that it is well known in the art to use thermal paper for vouchers, receipts, etc.. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide form Mantegazza with thermal paper in the manner as taught by Puckett et al in order to increase the versatility of the printing process.

In regard to claim 36, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the claimed indicia (bar code) since it would only depend on the intended use of the assembly and the desired information to be displayed. Further, it has been held that when the claimed printed matter is not functionally related to the substrate it will not distinguish the invention from the prior art in terms of patentability. In re Gulack 217 USPQ 401, (CAFC 1983). The fact that the content of the printed matter placed on the substrate may render the device more convenient by providing an individual with a specific type of indicia does not alter the functional relationship. Mere support by the substrate for the printed matter is not the kind of functional relationship necessary for patentability.

Claims 41 and 43 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sandru.

With respect to claim 43, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the claimed indicia (bar code) since it would only depend on the intended use of the assembly and the desired information to be displayed. Further, it has been held that when the claimed printed matter is not functionally related to the substrate it will not distinguish the invention from the prior art in terms of patentability. In re Gulack 217 USPQ 401, (CAFC 1983). The fact that the content of the printed matter placed on the substrate may render the device more convenient by providing an individual with a specific type of indicia does not alter the functional relationship. Mere support by the substrate for the printed matter is not the kind of functional relationship necessary for patentability.

In regard to claim 41, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to use the claimed dimension since such a modification would have involved a mere change in the size of a component. A change in size is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art. In re Rose, 105 USPQ 237 (CCPA 1955). It appears that there would be no new or unexpected result from such a modification.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 21 is allowed.
